This Imperial listening post has been on the remote planet Konkiv for years...

To Thy Metal Heart, Be True

... but what's the point of a listening post if there is nothing to hear?

It makes no sense to me.

But that's probably why I'm not in charge here, right?

Right, Nath. That's the only reason.

DEET!
DEET!
DEET!

What's that?

DEET!
DEET!
DEET!

There's a shuttle approaching.

One of ours?

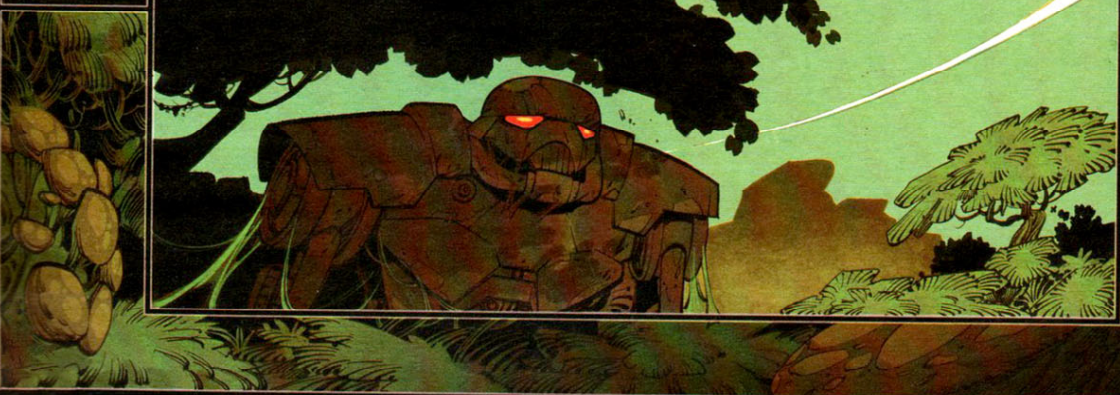

No.

"Maybe everything is fine"

"Maybe the sentry droid didn't detect it."

It looks pretty standard for leaving this base.

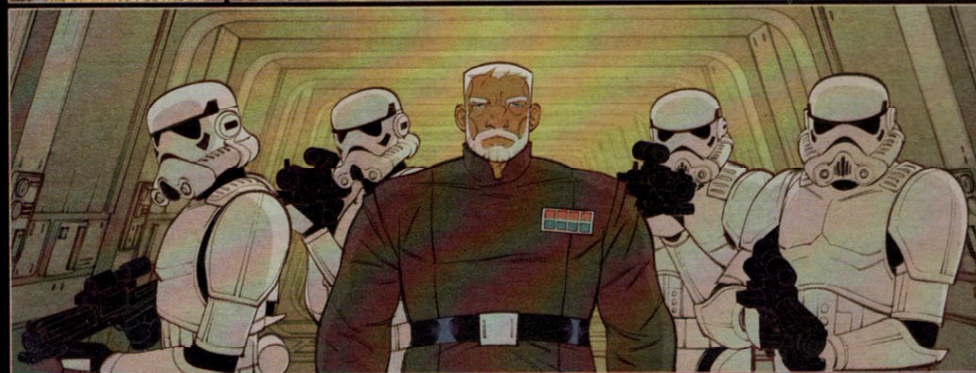

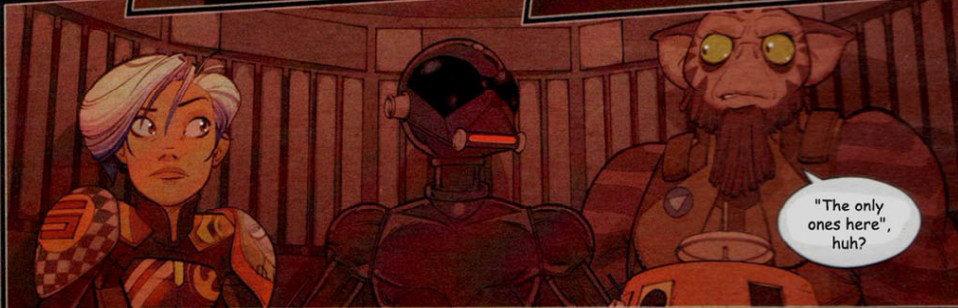

I have told you that it has not been used for years.

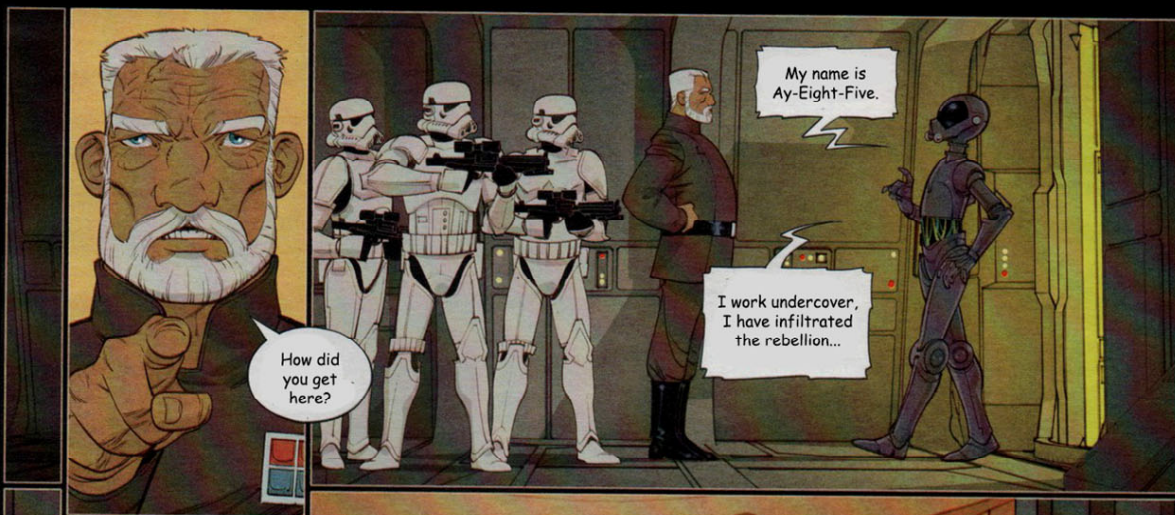

We are the only ones here. The rebellion can easily take it over.

What's that?

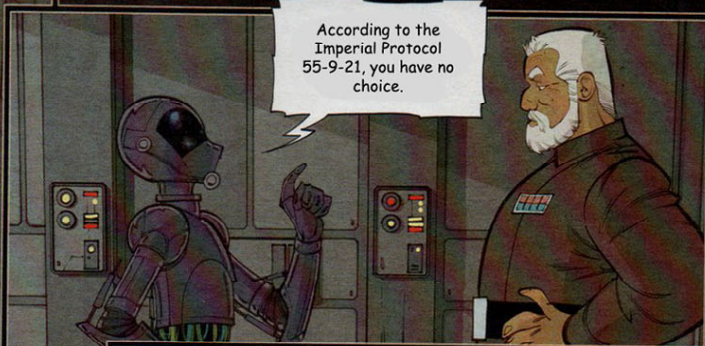

Take it
somewhere else.
I don't want it.

According to the Imperial Protocol
55-9-21, you have no choice.

And I recommend you recall the sentry droid who chased us in the hangar.

The sentry droid is in the base?

Yes.

Who can name the parts of this Nysha plant?

Aga, shut the door and make sure everyone is as quiet as possible.

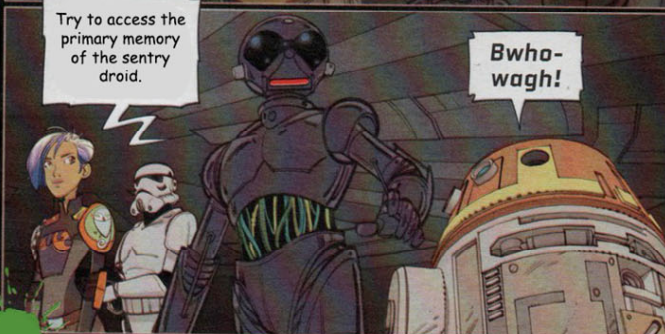

Does anything make any sense here?

Keep moving!

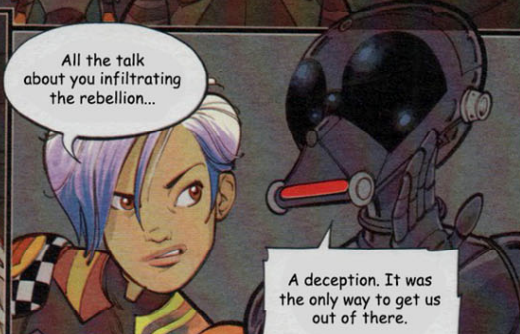

Someone show this droid a connection to the main computer!

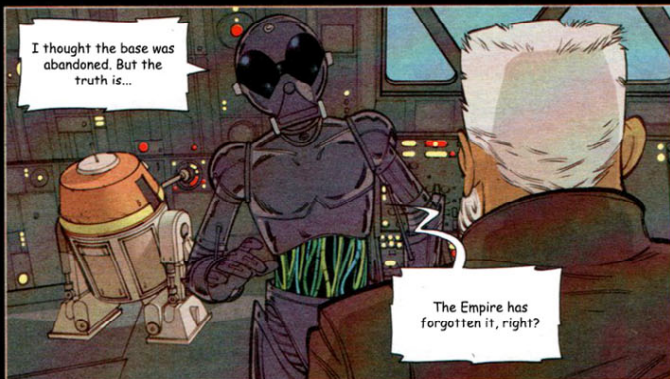

Try to access the primary memory of the sentry droid.

Bwho-wagh!

All the talk about you infiltrating the rebellion...

A deception. It was the only way to get us out of there.

KRAAKK!

Stop him, but do not destroy him!

CRASH!

You have to disable the sentry droid, Admiral...

You are the only one who can do that.

You demand that we give up everything we have!

Maybe we can help you...

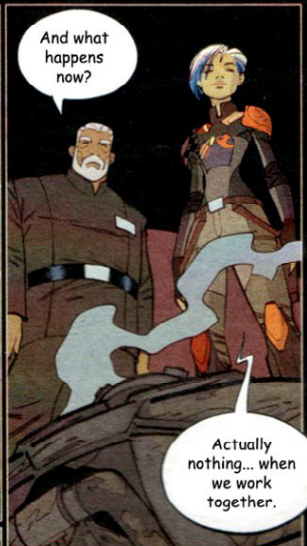

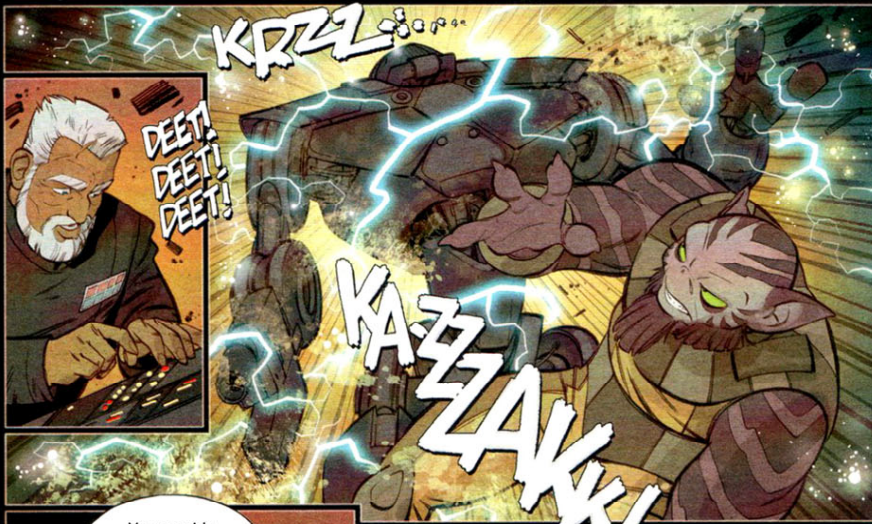

...but you have to trust us.

KRRK!

Whatever you want to do - now would be a good time!

KRRR...

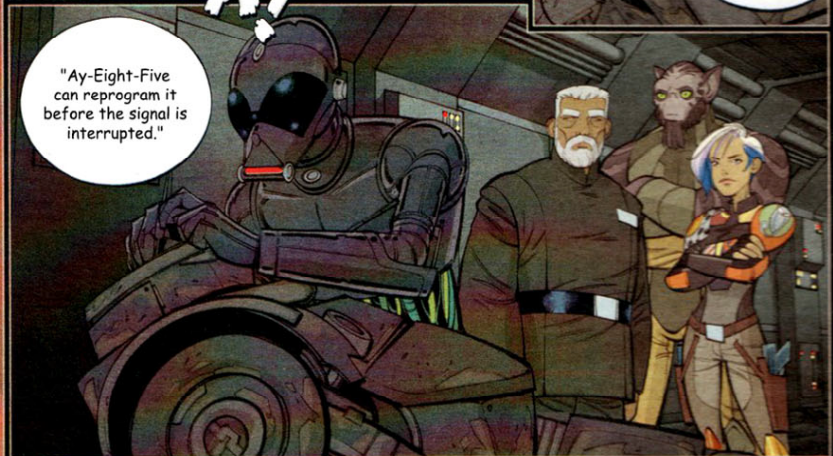

And what happens now?

Actually nothing... when we work together.

You provide the rebellion with Imperial intelligence and we keep your secret to ourselves.

We can do that. But the guard droid...?

"Ay-Eight-Five can reprogram it before the signal is interrupted."

"There is no reason why we all cannot start fresh."

End

Sons of The Sky

Three of her best students are joining the rebellion and you expect us to trust you now?

Two, Governor Pryce - I got the third one from the sky.

And I would rather not call you the "best".

"...well, then I would not come back if I were you."

We have to fix this.

Wedge, Hobbie... I understand what you're going through...

...but you haven't been here long enough that you can go alone.

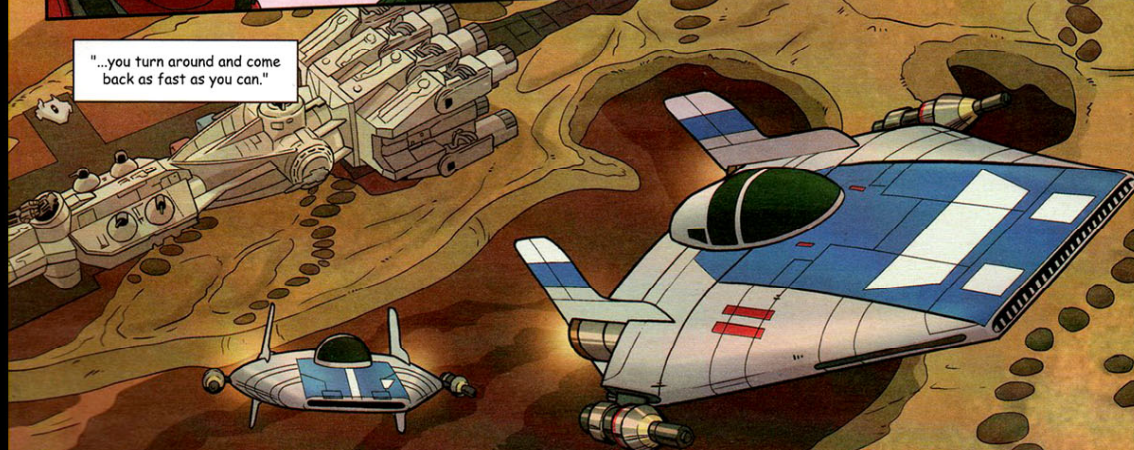

Our friend Rake lost his life while fleeing from the Empire.

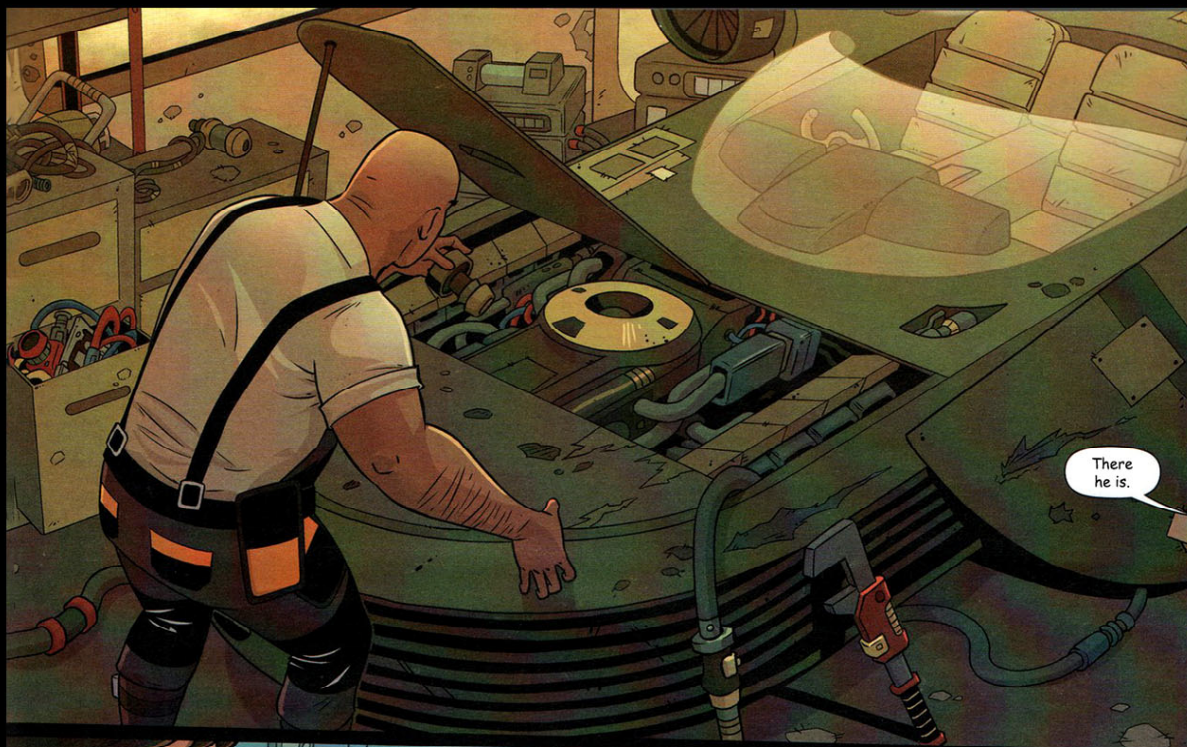

We just want to pay respect to his family and tell her that her son died as a hero.

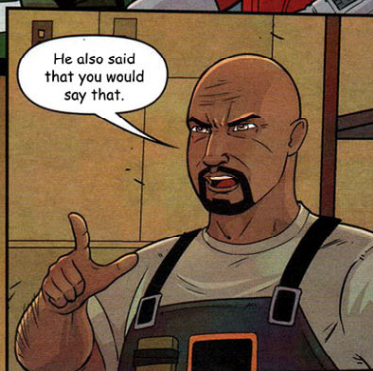

I don't have a problem with that. They've worked hard to readjust here.

Okay, but at the first sign of trouble...

"...you turn around and come back as fast as you can."

It's up to you how this goes.

You both could have been fantastic pilots - but look at you now.

Everyone you know and love knows the truth about you.

You betrayed everything you believed in.

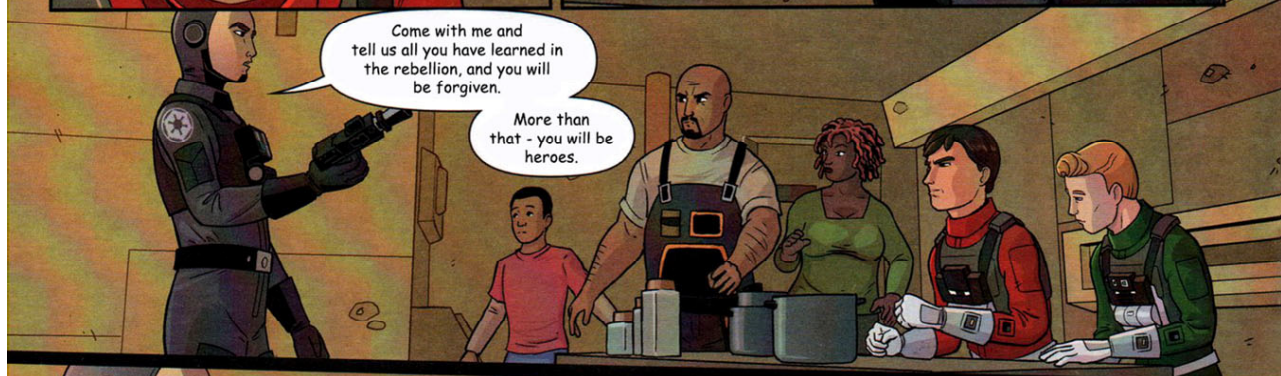

No one who knows us will believe your lies.

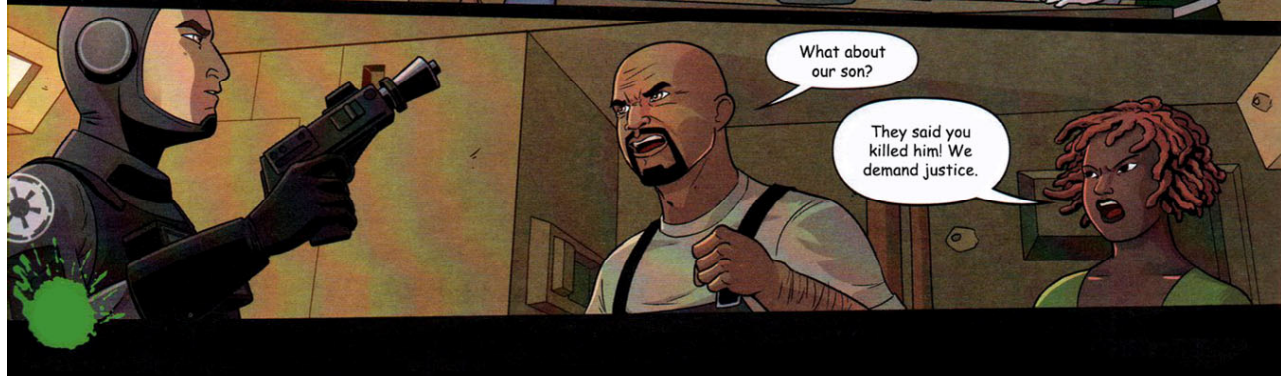

But they already believe it. Some have even omitted themselves to the military just to track you down.

Nevertheless, it isn't too late to repent.

Come with me and tell us all you have learned in the rebellion, and you will be forgiven.

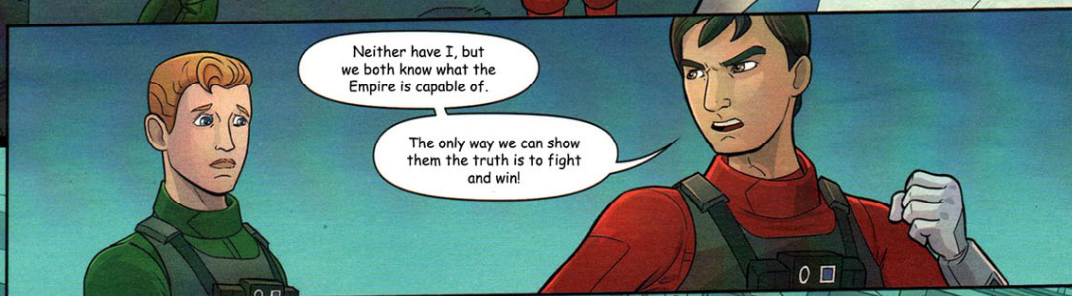

More than that - you will be heroes.

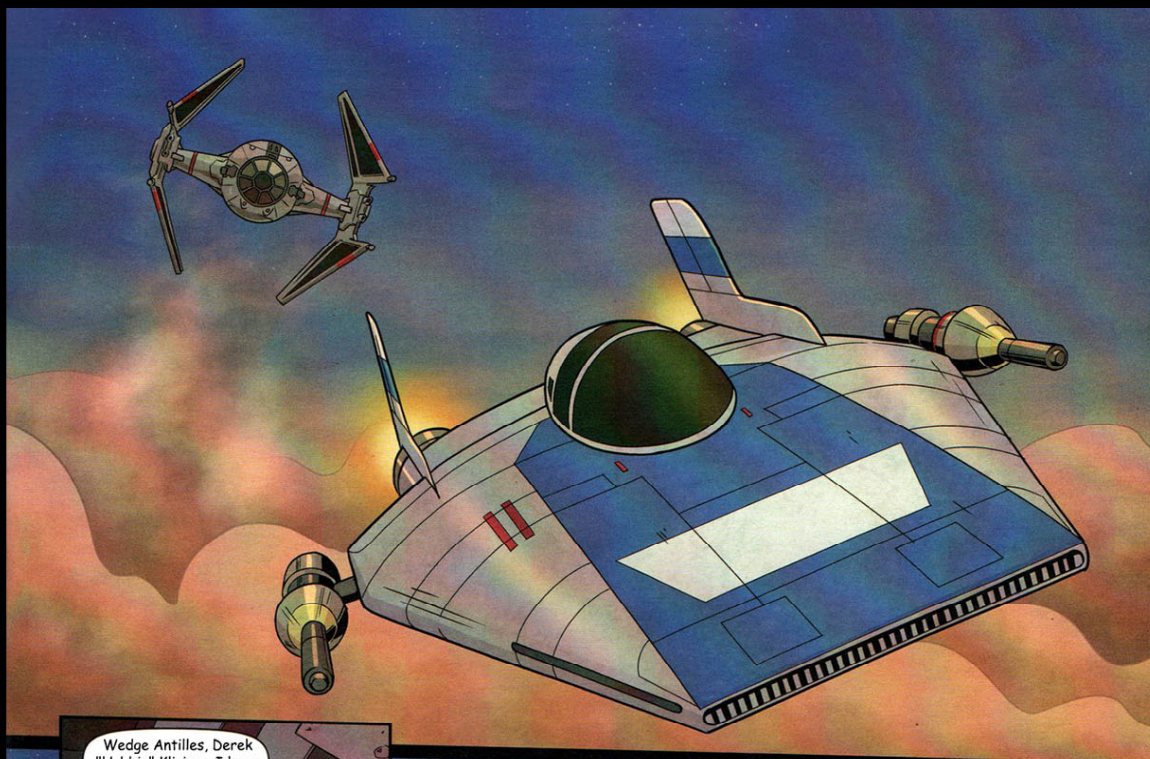

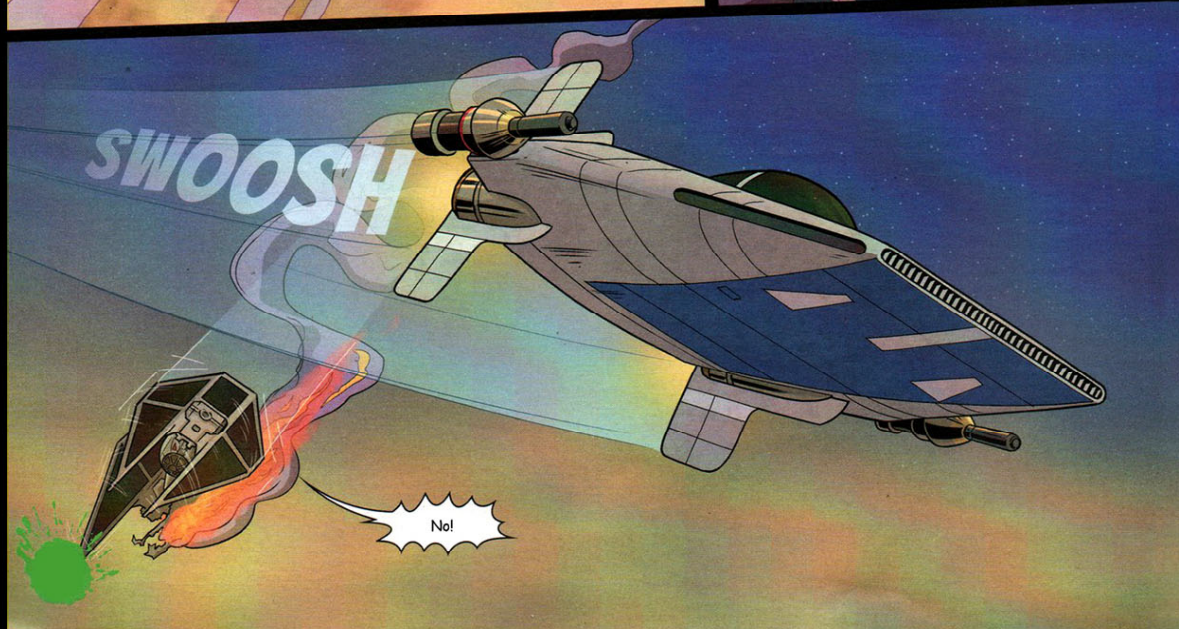

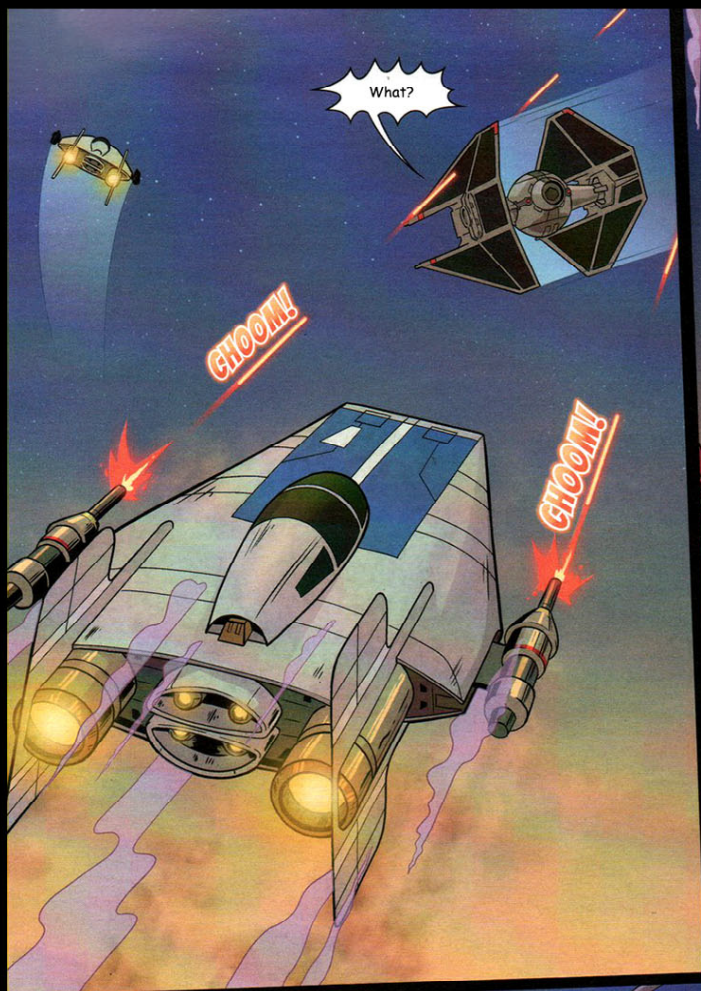

What about our son?

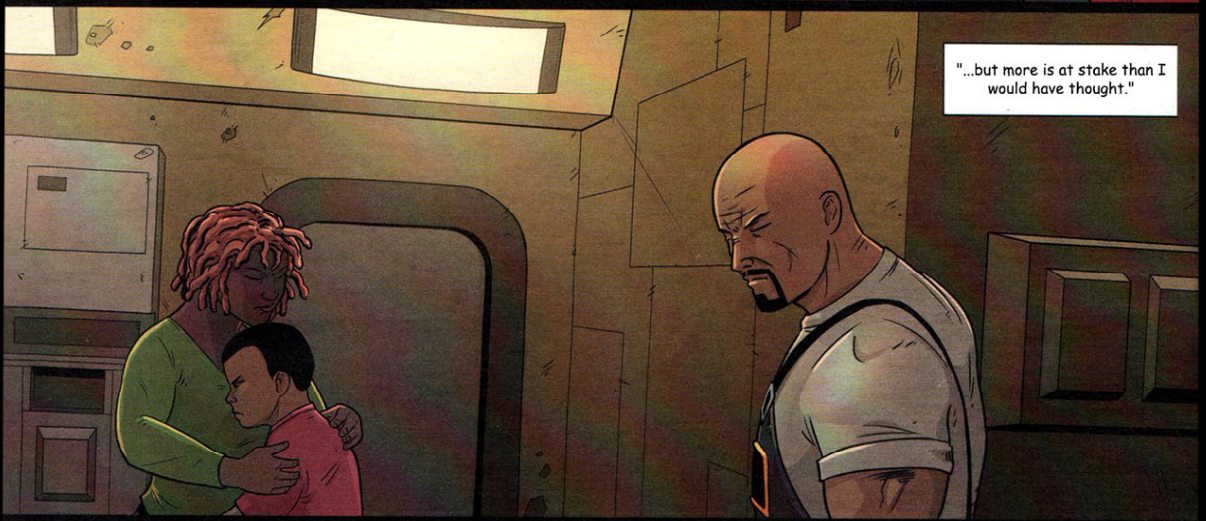

They said you killed him! We demand justice.

The Final Round

Starlag XIX.

A private prison station in the middle of nowhere.

Every second we spend here is a waste.

I mean, look at this worthless bunch! Not a decent person here.

We shouldn't trust anyone here.

He is here.

I'm not too excited to be here either, Zeb...

You could be the last of your kind.

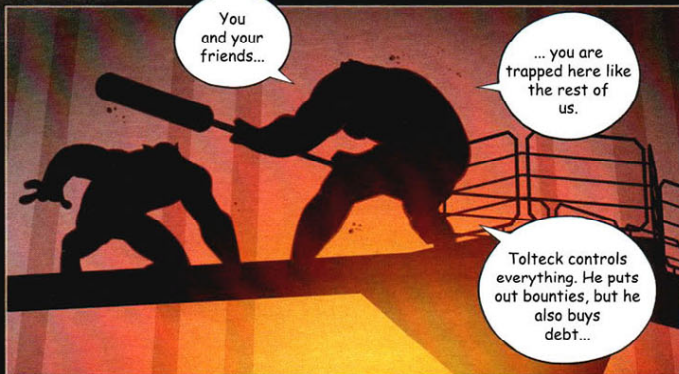

I don't want to be the one to wipe you out.

There are more Lasat.

Play along.

If we stop fighting, he'll give me another electric shock and I'll lose control again.

You and your friends...

... you are trapped here like the rest of us.

Tolteck controls everything. He puts out bounties, but he also buys debt...

If you borrow money from the wrong people and cannot pay it back...

Tolteck settles your debts...

... and owns you. You will be locked up here and you'll never leave again.

There are some terrible criminals here. Sneaky murderers.

But most are normal and have families who miss them. Many of them do not deserve this.

If he brought you here, it's already too late.

Tolteck owns you.

It's getting worse.

I think we should leave.

Leave? The only place you will be going is Drisk's Worker Colony.

He already paid for you.

I can show you the receipt.

You must spread the word.

The families of the inmates must know that they are still alive.

I will...

Is it really true that there are more Lasat?

Yes.

Thanks, Tonk. Will we see you back at base?

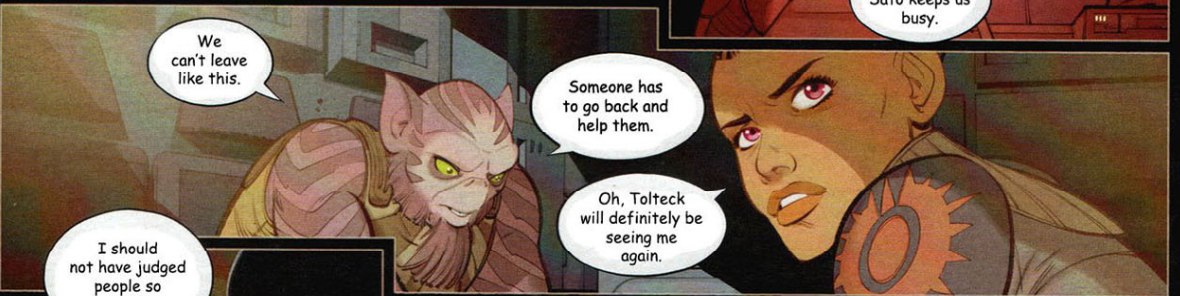

I'm afraid not, sir.

We have new orders.

Commander Sato keeps us busy.

We can't leave like this.

Someone has to go back and help them.

Oh, Tolteck will definitely be seeing me again.

I should not have judged people so quickly.

Those people are complicated.

Yeah, complicated.

But also very unlucky.

What are you talking about?

We should be out there at the front, not stuck here carrying boxes.

I tracked down people from Dad's old crew.

The Iron
Squadron is meant to fly again.

We won't do that, Mart. We're needed here.

I don't mind
carrying boxes.

Good to know...

...what I am to you...

Mykapo.

...and you have to think about how to get back. Because I won't go there anymore.

I know you haven't had it easy since you got to chopper based.

That's an understatement.

What a disappointment. It was really nice here.

Why do you think your father's people are here?

We were all together.

All families together on vacation.

It was a long time ago.

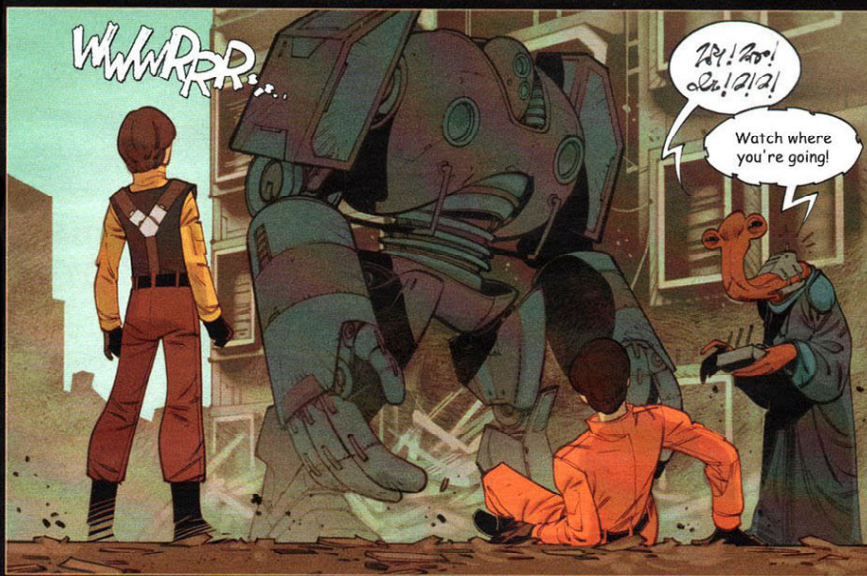

They always talked about returning...

...when all the fighting is over.

Looks like the fighting came first.

BUMP!

YUFFK

What happened between Harmon and Mart?

Harmon loved Mart's father.

He would have followed him to the end of the galaxy and back again.

He blames Mart for his death.

But the boy is not to blame.

He just wanted his father to notice him.

The Iron Squadron... was just overwhelming for us. It consumed everything.

Mart followed us on one of our nocturnal raids and got into danger...

...his father died when he rescued Mart.

"The Iron Squadron was disbanded and we went our separate ways after that."

"Later we heard that Mart became a laughing stock when he reformed to the Iron Squadron..."

"You can probably imagine how well that went over."

Okay, I'll do whatever you want, Stanger.

But stop shooting up my bar.

KAKROOM!!

Later...

What you did was brave.

No, it was stupid.

I could have hurt someone.
I wanted...

I couldn't think of anything better.

I thought
if I could find you...

...and prove to you that I'm not a snob...

...then maybe
you would forgive me for what happened, and we could start from scratch.

But I see that there's no turning back.

And I see now...

...that you probably suffered more than any of us.

You've become a great young man, Mart.
We would have been honored to fly with you.

Anyway, I'm afraid that all I can offer you right now is a job in the kitchen...

...but you're welcome to stay.

Thank you.
But I'm not ready to settle down
yet...

The Fifth and Last

Jinko was adopted when he was very young.

Adopted by the wealthy businessman Bolin Volfrahm, Jinko grew up safe and secure and with many advantages...

... but without love.

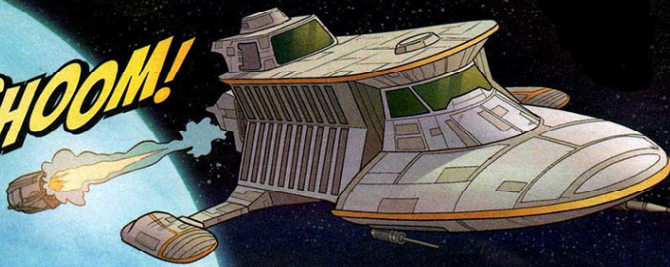

Later, he realized that his adoption was only to put Volfrahm in a good light.

When he was no longer small and cute, he lost his use...

He was banished to a place that was as much a prison as paradise.

Over time, more outcasts arrived.

"ESCAPE POD 02 Passenger:
Cruz Lorell - Accountant"

"ESCAPE POD 03 Passenger: Willa Volfrham - Wife"

They were all people Volfrham never wanted to see again.

The unique atmosphere of the planet jams all types of electronic communication.

Without hope of escape, their living together became routine. Mostly with tolerance...

...but with occasional disturbances.

"ESCAPE POD 04 Passenger:

Wait - I know you.
You're Willa Volfhrum, right?

Your husband told everyone that you ran away with his accountant!

Now everything makes sense! The last thing I remember is beating Bolin in a card game.

Then I woke up in a rescue pod.

That's your story?

The last person my husband sent here tried to kill us - and now you're sitting on him.

If you don't want the same fate, you better tell us the truth.

I just want to escape from this planet, just like you.

One of your escape
pods must have a functioning emergency transmitter.

Do you think we haven't tried that yet? No signal penetrates the atmosphere - neither in nor out. We're stuck here until we die.

Now we've been caught.

Correct. And now we surrender.

"The first time I came here as a young man."

"I had been accepted as a student at a prestigious school of crystal processing. It was a dream come true."

"Isobe is a lot of things, but definitely not open to strangers."

"I quickly realized that."

"Your daughter Althea was the only one who was ever nice to me."

"I knew it could never be, but ..."

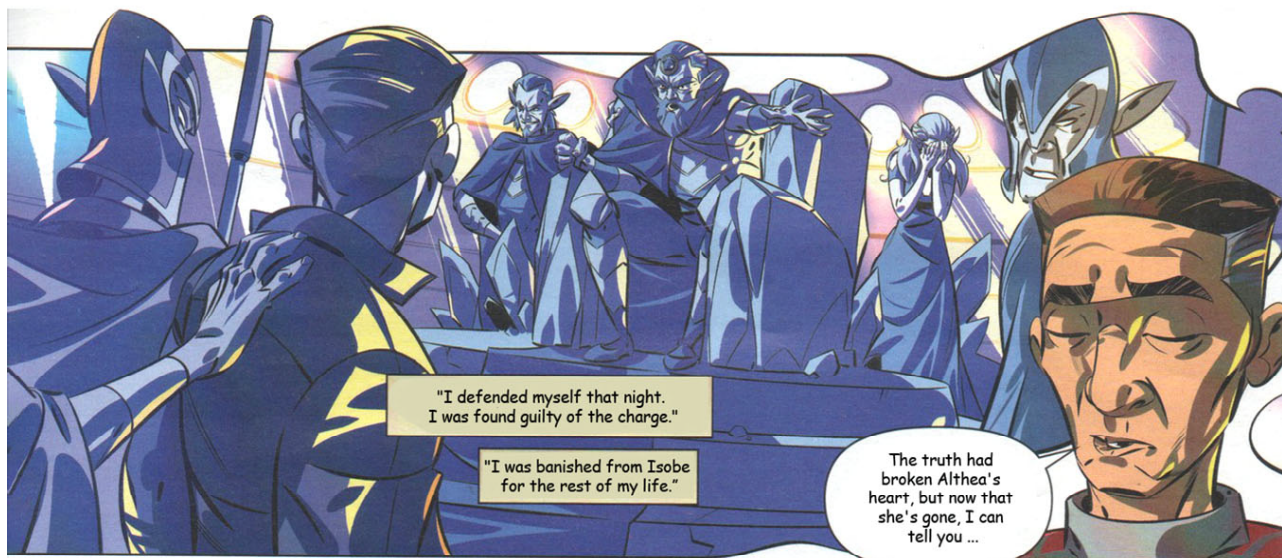

"I fell in love with her."

"I never wanted to learn to process crystal. The lessons were just a cover."

"Someone had offered me a spot in a crystal smuggling ring for Credits. I'm ashamed to admit that I agreed."

"And I'm even more ashamed..."

"...that I was caught."

"I defended myself that night.
I was found guilty of the charge."

"I was banished from Isobe for the rest of my life."

The truth had broken Althea's heart, but now that she's gone, I can tell you ...

The background of the cover is a vibrant, stylized illustration. At the top, a large, translucent blue face of a character with red and blue eyes looms over the scene. Below this, the title 'STAR WARS' is written in large, bold, black letters with a yellow-to-orange gradient background. Underneath 'STAR WARS', the word 'REBELS' is written in a similar style but with a more pronounced orange-to-red gradient. Below the title, the text 'ANIMATION MAGAZINE' and 'COMPLETE GERMAN COMICS' is written in a smaller, orange, sans-serif font. The bottom half of the cover features a group of characters from the Star Wars Rebels animated series. In the foreground, Kanan Jarrus is on the left, holding a green lightsaber. Next to him is Garazeb Orrelios, a purple-skinned Twi'lek with yellow eyes. To the right is Hera Syndulla, a green-skinned Twi'lek wearing a white flight helmet. In the bottom center is the head of the droid Chopper. On the far right is Sabine Wren, a human girl with purple hair wearing a black and orange outfit. The background of the character scene shows a sunset or sunrise over a planet with a city skyline, and several starfighters are visible in the sky.
